

Python Interview Questions – Data Types .

1. What are data types in Python? Why are they important?
 2. What is the difference between int, float, and complex data types?
 3. What is the NoneType in Python? When is it used?
 4. What is the difference between mutable and immutable data types? Give examples.
 5. What is the difference between Type Conversion and Type Casting?
 6. What is the purpose of the type() function?
 7. What is the difference between type() and id()?
 8. What is the purpose of the id() function in Python?
-

Python Interview Questions – Operators .

1. What are operators in Python? Name the different types of operators.
2. What is the difference between the / and // operators?
3. What is the purpose of the Modulus (%) operator? Give a real-world use case.
4. What is the difference between = (Assignment Operator) and == (Comparison Operator)?
5. What is the difference between (==) and (is) in Python?
6. What is the purpose of Logical Operators (and, or, not)? Explain with an example.
7. What are Identity Operators? When should you use is instead of ==?
8. What are Membership Operators? What is the difference between in and not in?
9. What is Operator Precedence in Python? Why is it important?
10. What is the difference between Arithmetic Operators and Assignment Operators? Give examples.